Bank of America Merrill Lynch Awards $5,000 to the Stern Center for Language and Learning in Williston, Vermont

Williston, Vermont – Bank of America Merrill Lynch has awarded a $5,000 grant to the Stern Center for Language and Learning located in Williston, Vermont. This grant will support general operating needs of the Stern Center, a nonprofit organization that helps learners of all abilities identify learning strengths and address areas of difficulty through the use of research-based learning evaluations and individualized instruction. The Stern Center also offers professional learning opportunities for educators and physicians.

“We are so thankful for this generous gift from the Bank of America Merrill Lynch. It will enable us to continue to deliver high-quality services to children and adults in the community. We are also especially grateful for their recognition of our mission. The Stern Center recognizes that all great minds don’t think alike. Because of support from organizations such as Bank of America Merrill Lynch, we can continue to help all learners reach their full potential,” said Stern Center President, Blanche Podhajski, Ph.D.

The Bank of America works with nonprofit organizations to identify critical issues in local communities and invest in organizations to better equip them to address needs.
